

STARRY ISLAND

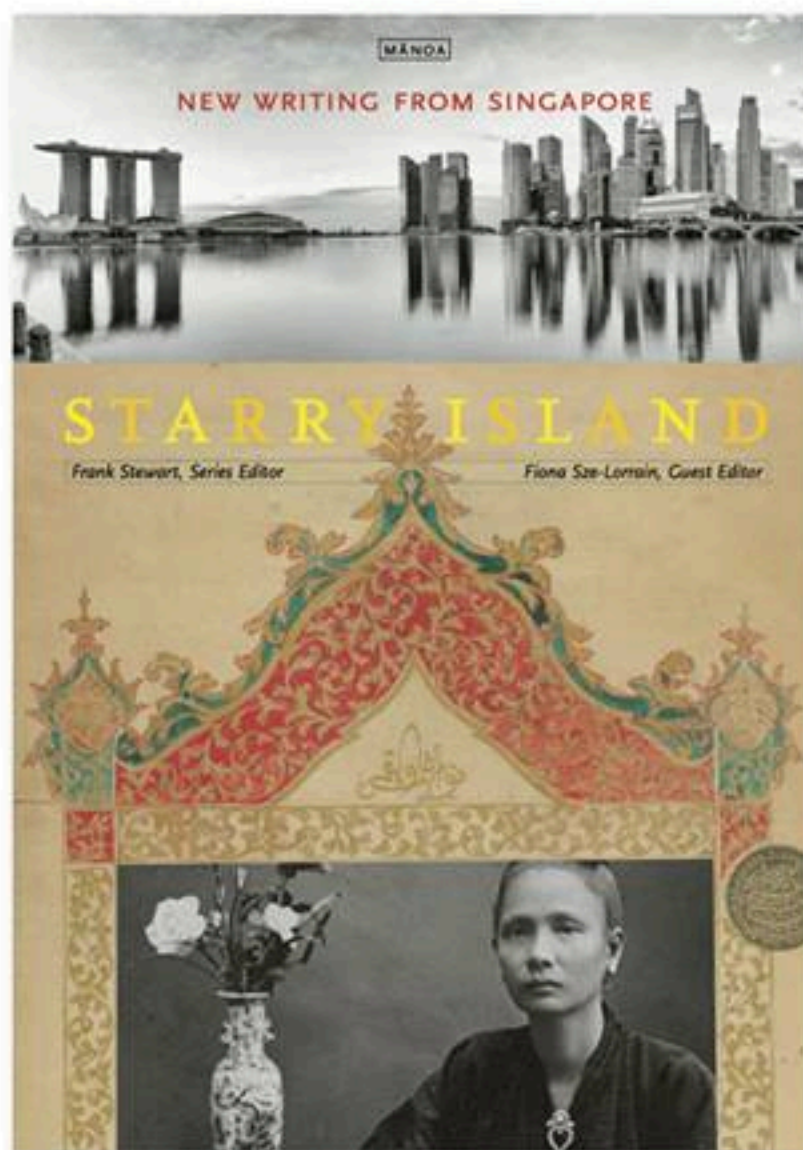

NEW WRITING FROM SINGAPORE

Edited by Frank Stewart and Fiona Sze-Lorrain

Starry Island presents essays, fiction, and poetry that express the complex tensions and interconnections of Singapore. These fresh and accomplished works by two dozen contemporary writers include meditative essays, satire, magical realist fiction, and lyric poetry.

The art includes photographs of Singapore's modern architecture and portraits of early-twentieth-century Chinese and Peranakan families.

Starry Island is the summer 2014 issue in the MĀNOA series of international literature published by the University of Hawai'i Press.
